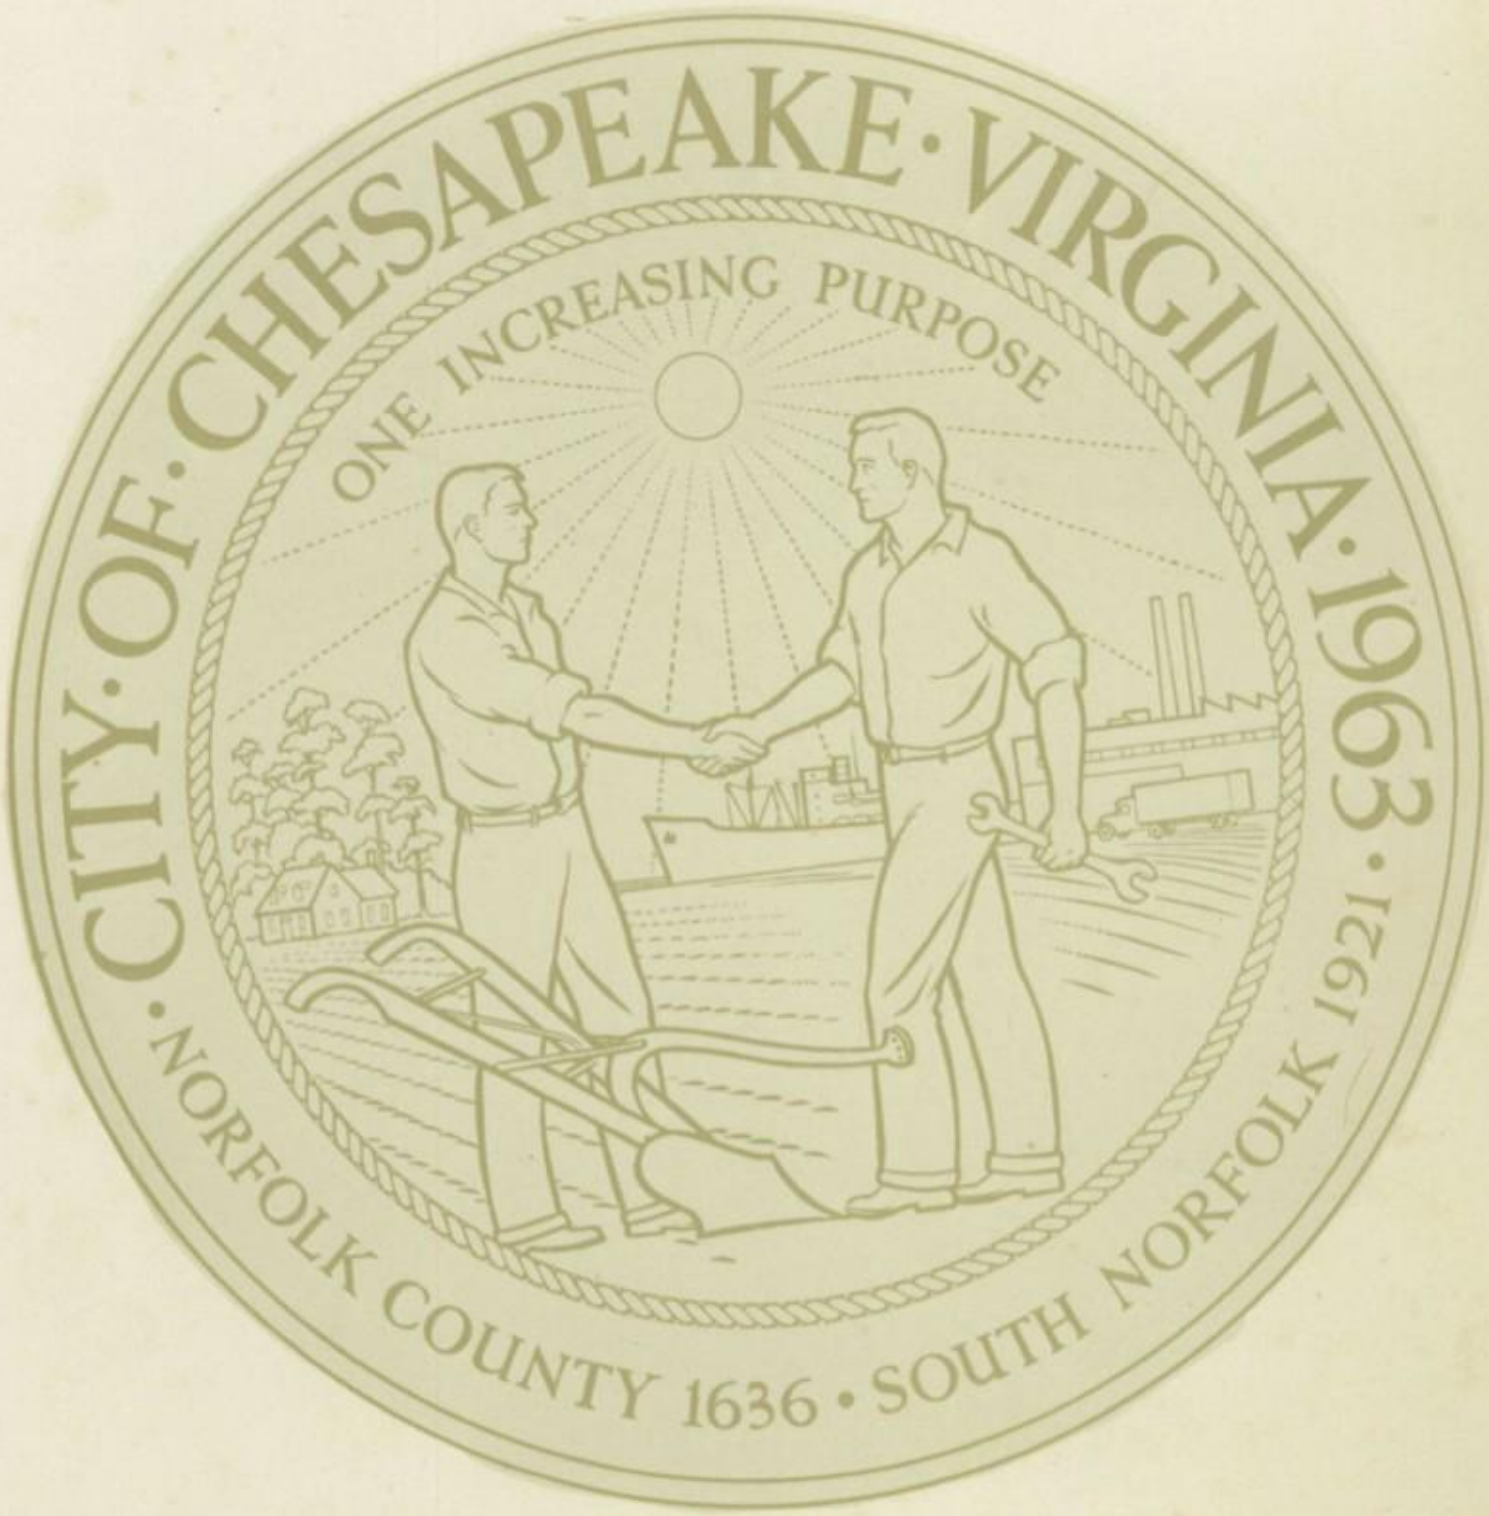
THE CAUSEWAY STAFF
of
GREAT BRIDGE HIGH SCHOOL
PROUDLY SALUTES
the
CITIZENS OF CHESAPEAKE
of
TODAY AND TOMORROW



FOREWORD

Barbara Wood
Editor-in-Chief

Through THE 1964 CAUSEWAY, the staff proudly honors the present and future citizens of Chesapeake. On January 1, 1963, the city of South Norfolk and Norfolk County merged to form the City of Chesapeake. Our new city, the largest in Virginia and the third largest in the Nation in land area, will prosper through the work of the present and future adult citizens and through the knowledge that the citizens of today impart to the citizens of tomorrow. It is hoped that this CAUSEWAY will inspire youth to become responsible adults.

In the schools of Chesapeake, serving some 80,000 people, students who very soon must shoulder the civic responsibilities of our city learn from experienced leaders. Great Bridge High School, one of the six high schools in the city, is the one of which we are particularly proud since it is our Alma Mater.

LOYALTY TODAY

Lessons learned in school activities today will insure loyalty to community and country tomorrow.

Student efforts in classroom activities and sports help to build attitudes of loyalty which will prevail in the future.

INSURES PATRIOTISM TOMORROW

Knowledge of and respect for ideals are acquired through the efforts of school and community.

As the student art work portrays, our area is a progressing one of which all citizens can be justly proud.

GUIDANCE TODAY DEVELOPS

DEDICATION

Mrs. Margaret D. Stokes

This year THE CAUSEWAY staff pays tribute to Mrs. Margaret Stokes. Mrs. Stokes has been guidance counselor of the present senior class from their freshman year. Under her watchful eye and care, the Class of 1964 has developed from "green freshmen" to responsible seniors. Thank you, Mrs. Stokes, for your untiring efforts; and as token payment, we dedicate THE 1964 CAUSEWAY to you.

DREAMS FOR TOMORROW

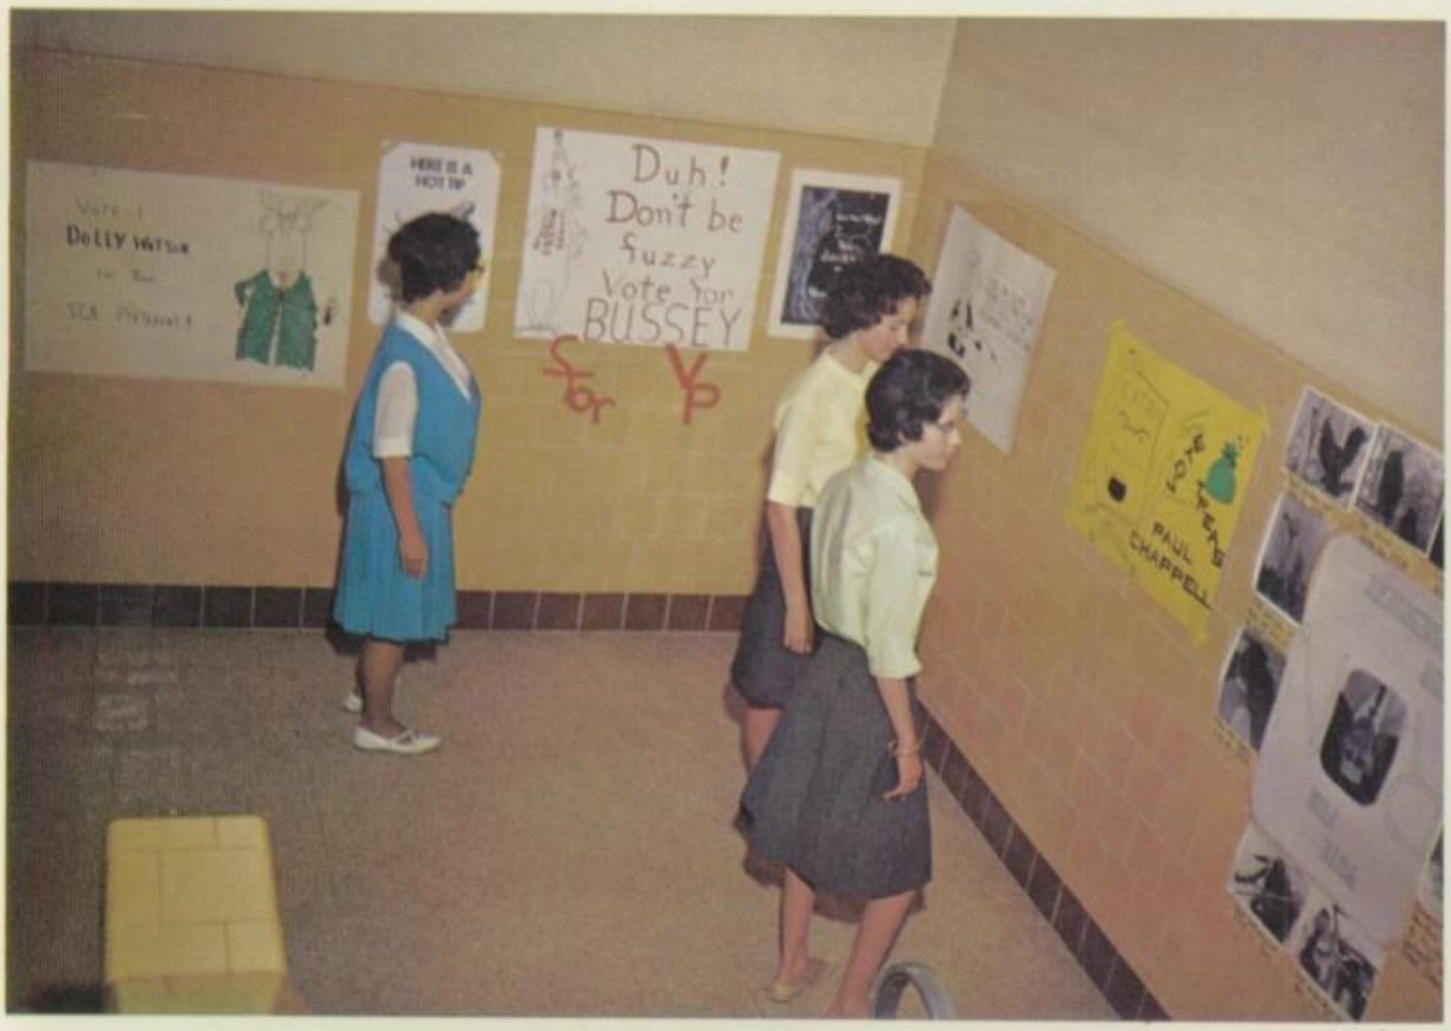
The guidance counselors at Great Bridge devote a great deal of time to students' problems. It is through their help that schedules are planned throughout high school years.

In future years, Great Bridge students will look back with appreciation to their guidance counselors. They will remember the patience and the understanding of these teachers who helped them in deciding their future and in realizing their dreams.

Under the leadership of the administration, members of the student body are given the opportunity to express themselves in the government of the school.

LEADERSHIP TODAY BUILDS

The elections that Great Bridge students have play an important role in the teaching of leadership to the citizens of tomorrow.



Through student participation, an awareness of leadership and co-operation is instilled within the student.

LEADERSHIP TOMORROW

Procedures of government learned through the Student Co-operative Association will enable students to become more efficient leaders of the future.

ADMINISTRATORS TODAY

Luther D. Moore
Assistant Principal

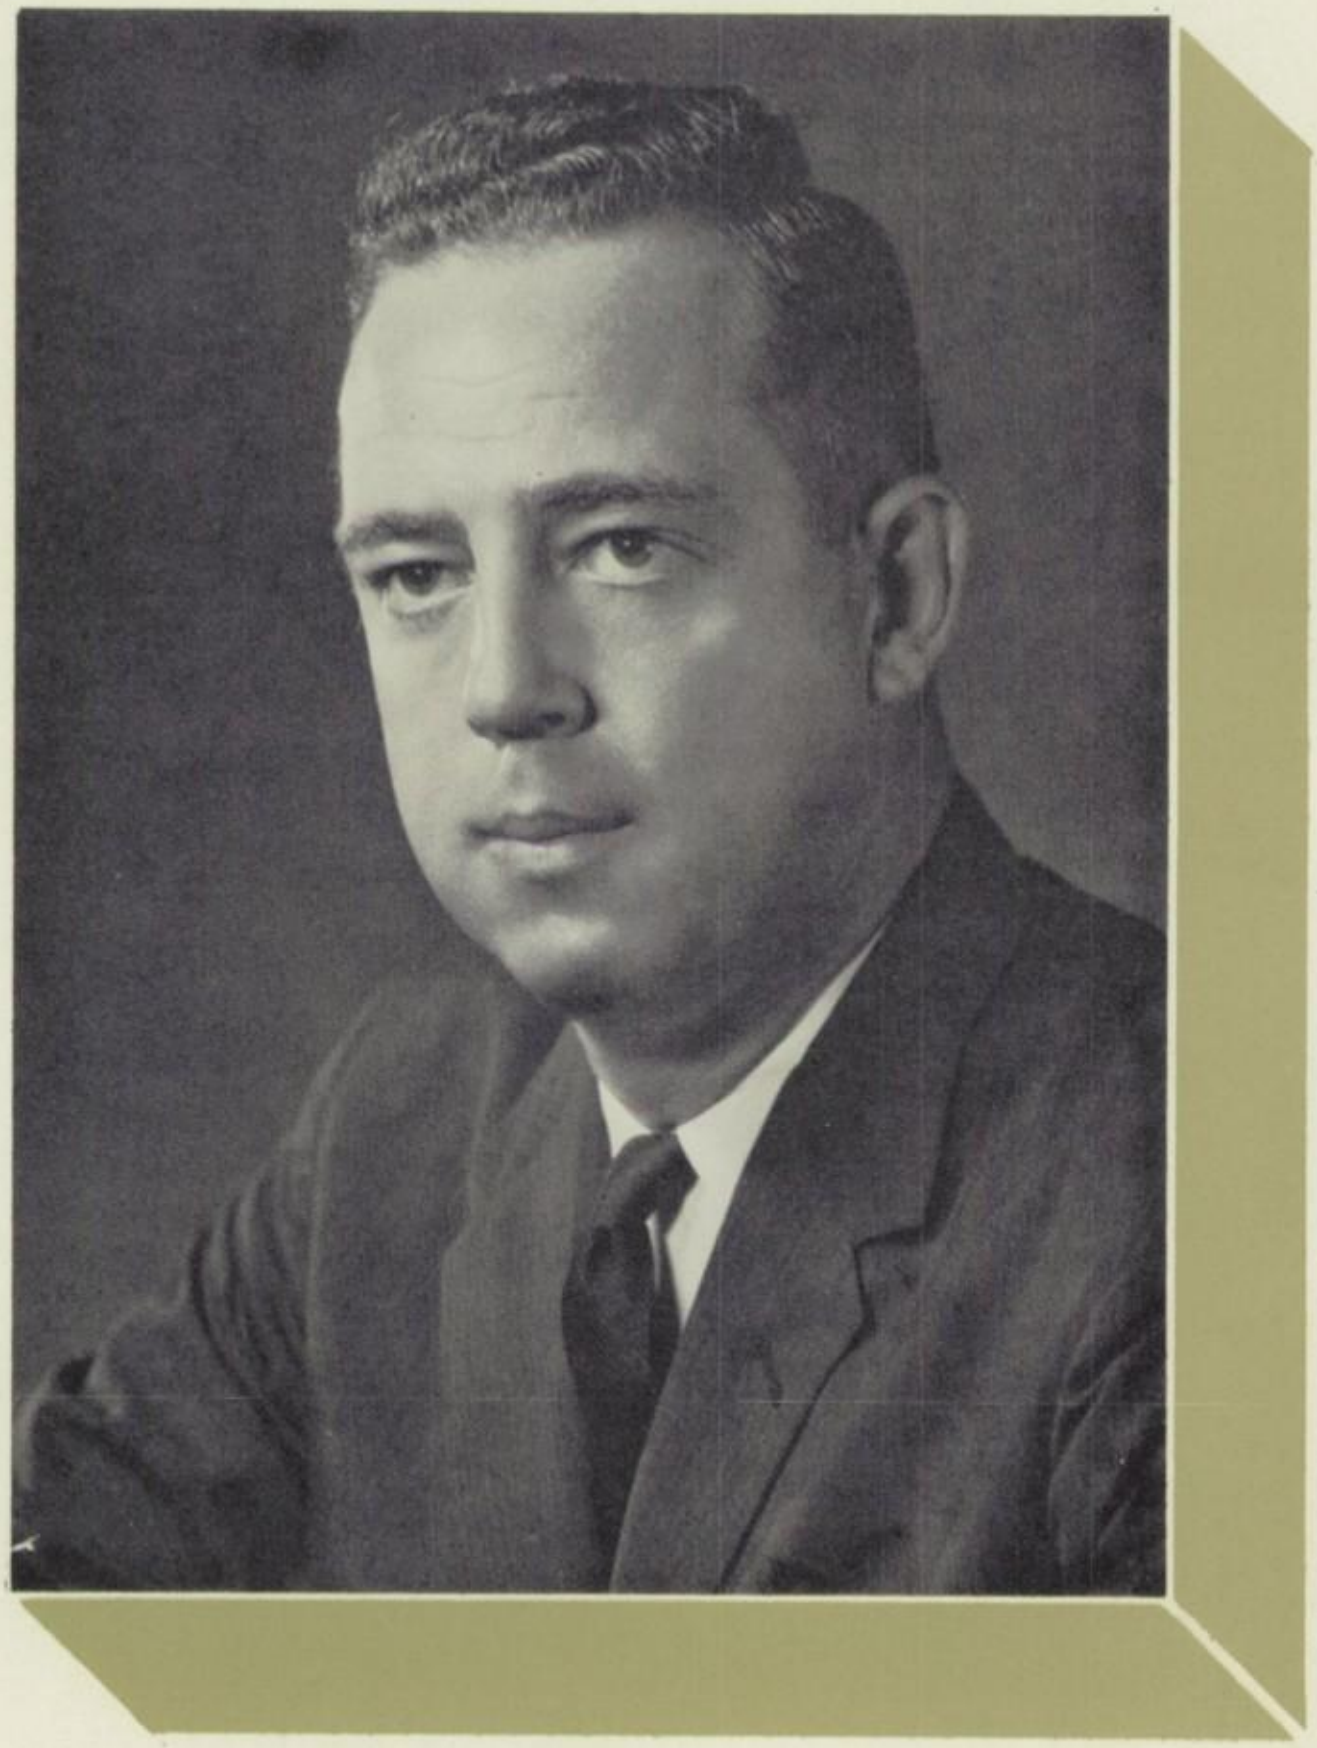
Phillips University, B. S.
University of Oklahoma, M. Ed.

Mrs. Nellie S. Tatem
Guidance Director

Radford, B. S.
Virginia Polytechnic Institute, M. Ed.

As the chief administrators of Great Bridge High School, Mr. Eley, Mrs. Tatem, and Mr. Moore present the opportunity for students to become responsible citizens of tomorrow. Although Great Bridge has a fine athletic reputation, Mr. Eley considers the academic reputation of Great Bridge more important; and the administrators strive to maintain the proper balance among all phases of school work. Since this requires careful preparation on the part of the school administrators, Great Bridge students consider themselves fortunate to have these three leaders planning for their future.

PLAN FOR TOMORROW



Douglas C. Eley
Principal

University of Richmond - B.A.
University of Virginia - M.A.

The image we students have of Mr. Eley, our principal, is one of good friend and able guide. He is strict but fair; he is serious but friendly. We are indeed grateful to you, Mr. Eley, for your guidance and inspiration.

"Mardi Gras", given by the Class of 1964, was the high light of the year. Everyone who attended had high praises for the colorful decorations and the music provided by "The Rocking Rebels".

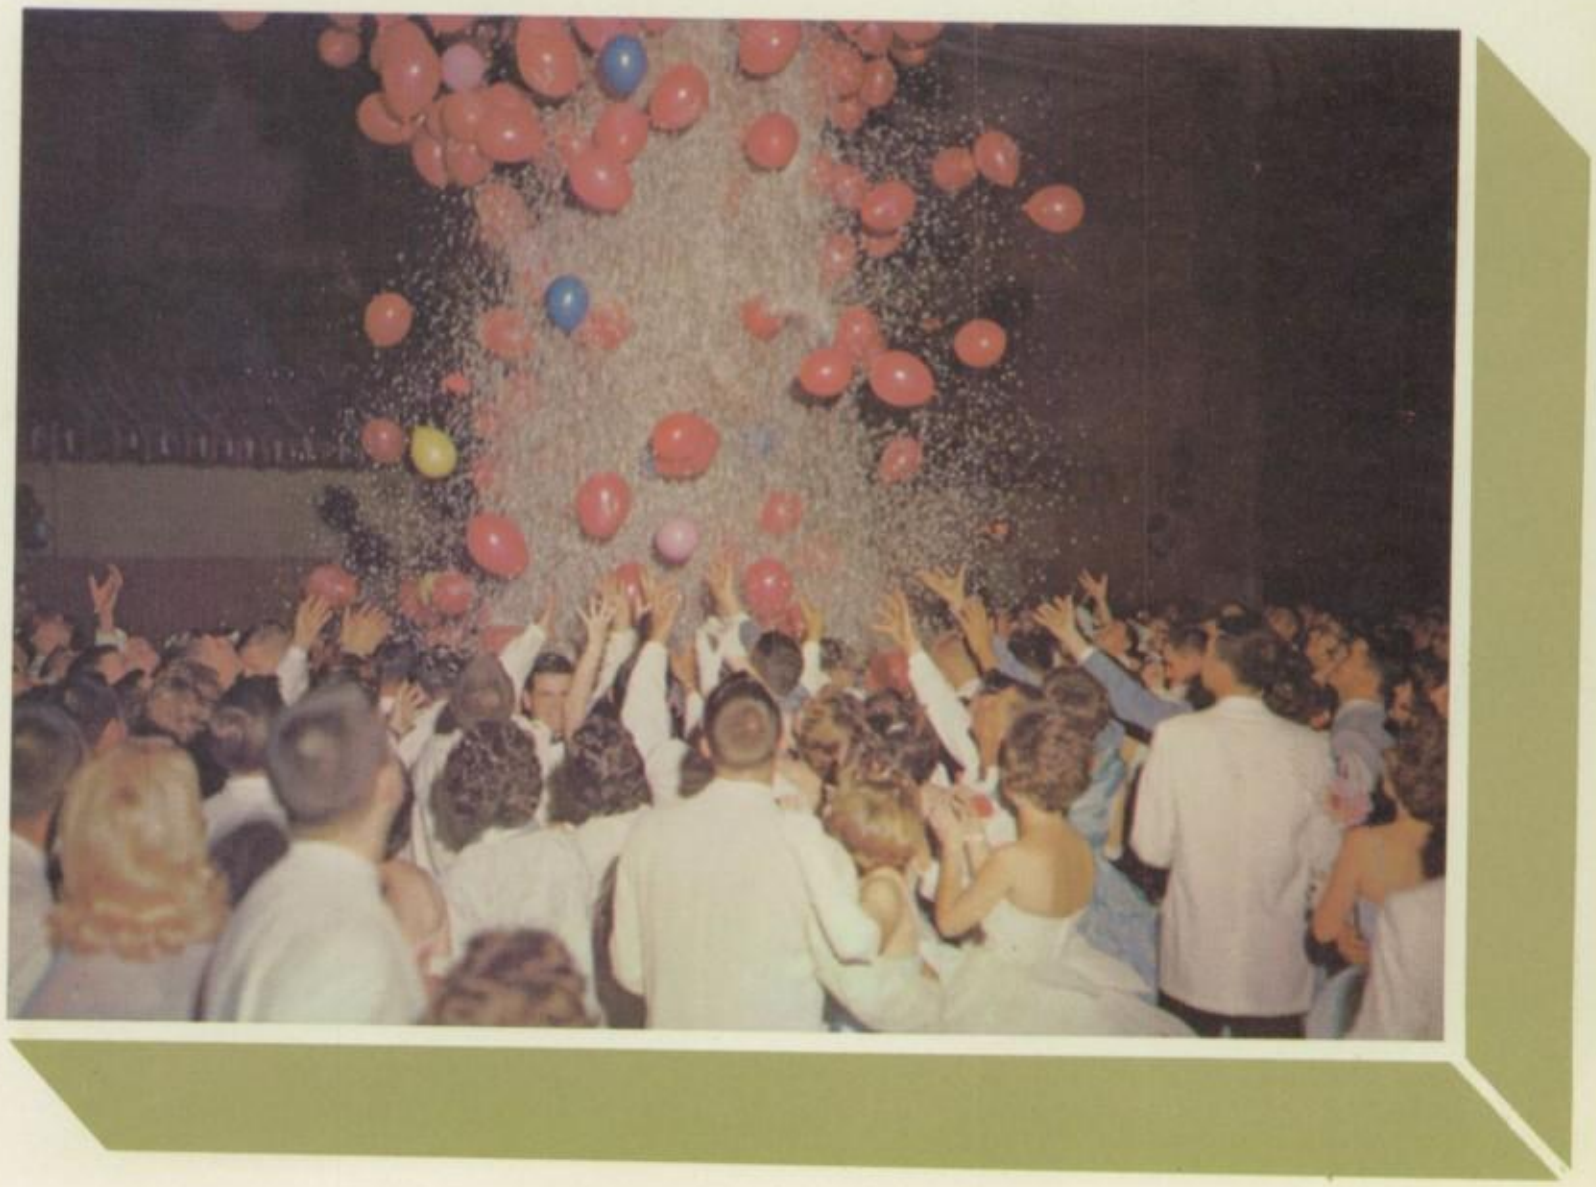
THE CAREFREE TODAY ARE

Now, all that remains are the carefree memories of yesterday for the adults of tomorrow.

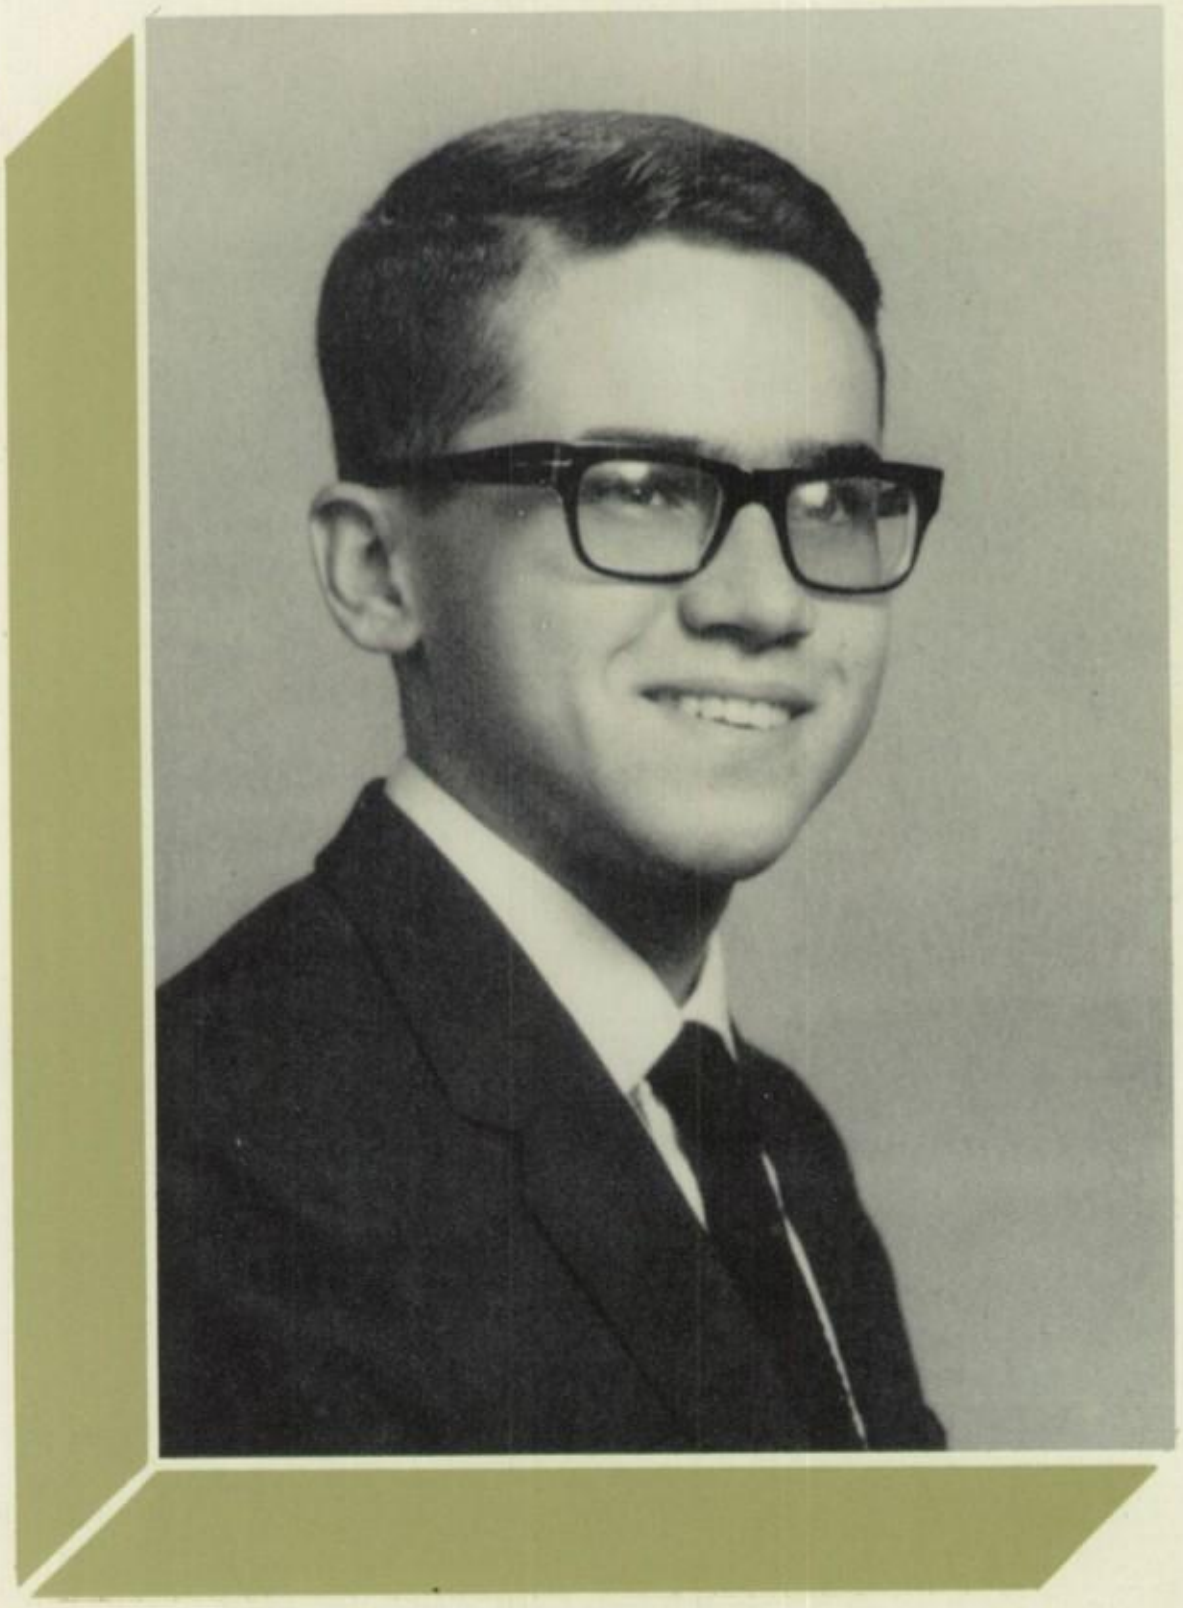
Mrs. Vivian Cashwell, the sponsor of the junior class, guided the Class of 1964 through many hours of preparation for the annual junior-senior prom.

RESPONSIBLE TOMORROW

Finally the big night arrived, and all were rewarded with memories for the future by one of the most successful proms Great Bridge had ever known.



CO-OPERATION TODAY ESTABLISHES

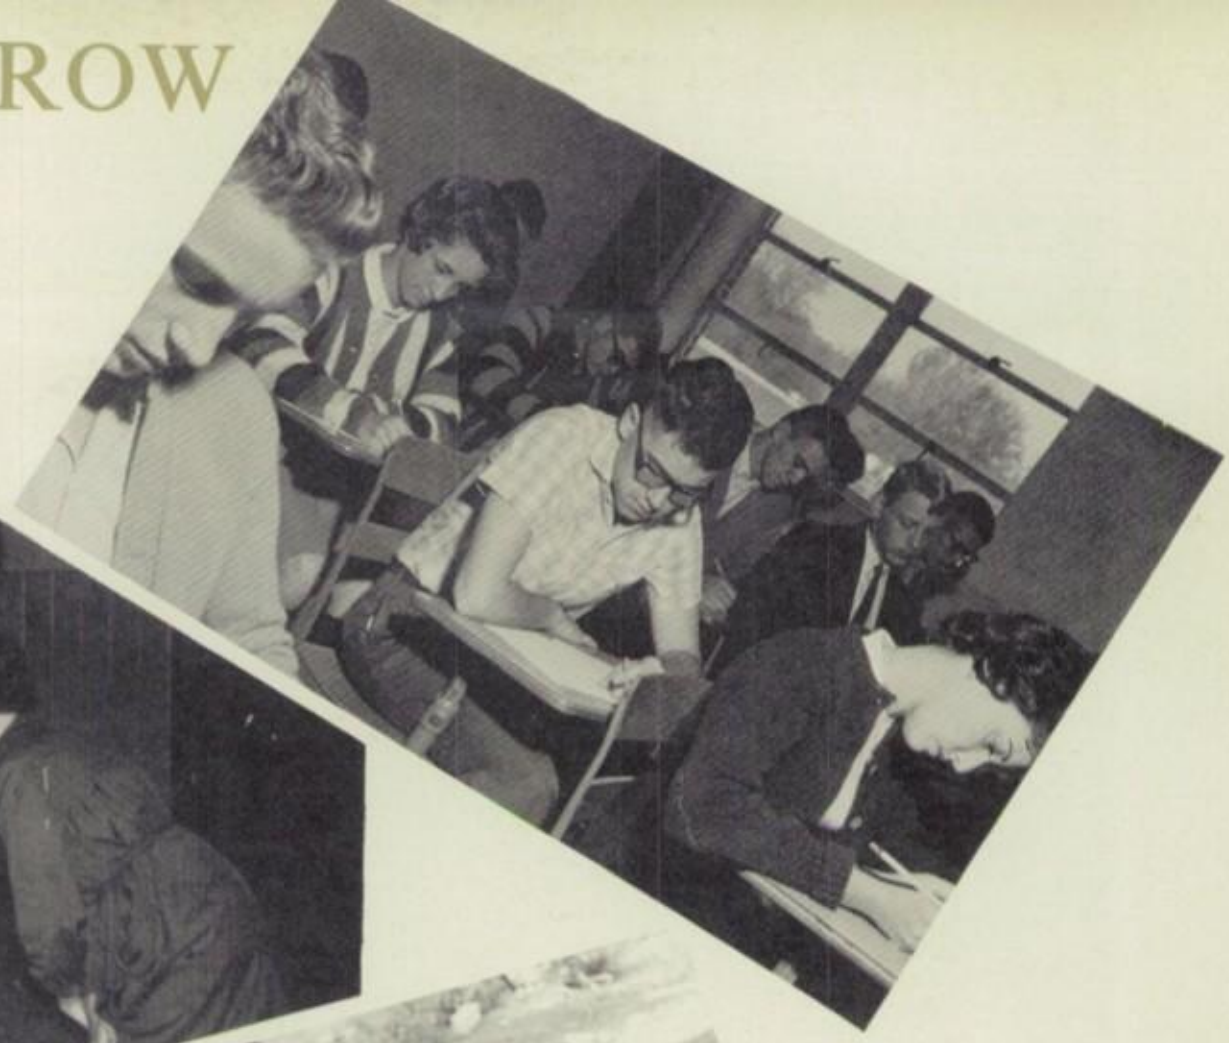


Rodrigo Muzzi
Foreign Exchange Student

A new spark of life entered the halls of Great Bridge High School when Rodrigo Muzzi arrived from Brazil. A whirlwind of guests and parties welcomed him to his new home. His warm personality and sparkling sense of humor have won him many friends. Rod, now a part of Great Bridge, enthusiastically took part in school activities, from classes to dances to sports. We will always be grateful to the American Field Service, the sponsoring group behind Rod, for this opportunity to strengthen foreign relations.

As our first foreign exchange student, Rod will long be remembered as the key which unlocked the door at Great Bridge to international understanding.

PEACE TOMORROW



RECREATION TODAY ENLIVENS OUTLOOK TOMORROW

Participation in school activities contributes to a healthy outlook on life.

When the youth of today reflect on their formative years, the part that recreation played will be accorded its proper place in development for the future.

FACULTY

Mr. H. C. Paxson, Assistant Superintendent of Chesapeake City Schools, greets Mr. Luther Moore, Assistant Principal of Great Bridge High, and is introduced to two seniors who in the near future will assume their part of the responsibilities of our schools. Mr. Paxson, along with other members of the staff, is responsible for the high caliber of personnel now teaching in our system. They realize that in the quality of our faculty lies the strength of tomorrow.

Best wishes to a very attractive young lady

In Memory

James Edward Flannigan

In the depth of your hopes and desires lies your silent knowledge of the beyond;

And like seeds dreaming beneath the snow your heart dreams of spring.

Trust the dreams, for in them is hidden the gate to eternity.

History

In the fall of 1961, about three hundred scared prodigies walked the halls of Great Bridge High School for the first time. This new breed of students was being used in an experiment--an experiment in the field of learning. New subjects were introduced as well as new methods of teaching, and a new curriculum was set up. This class was to be the first to graduate with 24 credits instead of 18. The reason for this increase was the giving of credits for eighth grade work which had never been done before. This was the beginning of an experiment, not only in learning the facts the teachers wanted you to know, but in acquiring facts through experience. (For example: These students learned how to talk in study hall, chew gum, pass notes without being caught, and at what minute the bells rang.) The leaders of their first year were Judy Meekins, President; Kenny Barefoot, Vice-President; Virginia Boyette, Secretary; Anita Gibson, Treasurer; Joe Bussey, Reporter; and they were gently nudged by Mrs. McKenney, the sponsor of the freshman class. The big project of the freshman year was the dance, "The Wildcat Stomp." It was semiformal, so one can imagine how much "stomping" was done in party dresses and heels, and coats and ties. After the ties were loosened and the heels kicked off a good time was had by all. The year was indeed a promising one.

The sophomore year started in the same "ole" tradition, with one exception--timid freshmen had become bold sophomores after their year of initiation. The officers who led the tenth graders were Kenny Barefoot, President; Joe Bussey, Vice-President; Dolly Watson, Secretary; Cliff Guard, Treasurer; Barbara Wood, Reporter; and, thanks to Mrs. Overby, the class was kept in hand. Again the big project of the year was the annual dance. The sophomores decided to have a "Hawaiian Luau" after the theme "Devil in the Deep Blue Sea" was screened out. The dance was a tremendous success and the decorations caused a mood of enchantment to prevail. Just as the year was beginning, the end came; and anticipation for the junior year became almost unbearable.

But the summer passed quickly and the confident juniors walked the halls perhaps a little hautier than before. They gradually lost this false impression and were back in the swing. Football season's result was co-championship of the district, and the unforgettable moment came in the Newport News game which the teams tied 7-7. The basketball team kept up with the football team and took 2nd place in the tournament of the Eastern District. The National Honor Society tapped some worthy juniors and seniors, and this was the first year sophomores weren't included. When the year of 1963 was brought into history, the juniors lived now in the city of Chesapeake, as a result of a merger between Norfolk County and South Norfolk. Along with the new year, came the juniors' candy sales to make enough money to give the Class of '63 an unforgettable prom. The officers, Don Jackson, President; Kenny Barefoot, Vice-President; Sharon Cress, Secretary; Barbara Kay, Treasurer; Linda Martin, Reporter; and the sponsor, Mrs. Cashwell, knew the true meaning of their positions. As the days flew by, the excitement was mounting and the plans were secretly whispered from one junior to another. (The plans for the prom were hush-hush for it had to be a wonderful surprise to the seniors.) Who among the junior class will forget the rolling of crepe paper, the drawings of chalk murals? (The chalk seemed to get everywhere except on the paper that was spread on the hall floor and over which many kids were toiling.) The day of decoration came with excited kids trying to do everything at once. The most unforgettable moment was the filling of the parachute with multi-colored balloons and confetti, which was to be strung up to the ceiling and dropped at midnight. Who could forget when a certain junior pulled the chute before it was ready to be strung up and the parachute had to be filled up again. The "Mardi Gras" was ready to begin.

The night came breezing in with the girls in long, frilly gowns and the boys in their tuxedos. The music was enlivened by the "Rockin Rebels," and the dance was thrown into full swing. (Have you ever seen the "Thunderbird" in formal dress? What a sight!) The last moments were tense as the parachute lowered little by little until . . . Bang! Balloons, confetti, and streamers went everywhere. This was the climax to an unforgettable night.

The year was almost over and the successful juniors felt their prestige as they were measured for rings and made the difficult decision of what kind of ring they wanted. This decision about the ring marked the beginning of the end.

The senior year came in with a flourish of excitement. Officers Don Jackson, President; Kenny Barefoot, Vice-President; Fella Rhodes, Secretary; Sharon Cress, Treasurer; Bertie Hanbury, Reporter, were elected; and senior superlatives were chosen. Mrs. Stokes patiently sponsored the seniors and gave helpful advice. The unceasing question "Where are our rings?" was answered when the seniors gave the 1st Ring Dance at Great Bridge and the treasured rings were received. Measurements for caps and gowns were made, senior pictures were exchanged, and announcements and calling cards were ordered. College Day was held and was a help to college-bound seniors. Baccalaureate and graduation dates were set; anticipation was mounting to a fever pitch. The senior project was to buy new back-drop curtains for the stage, and money to pay for them came from the Senior Play, ANATASIA. (The brand new scenery for the play cost the class also.) The Senior Assembly, "1984", was a grand success.

Yes, the experiment was a tremendous success, and Great Bridge sent the Class of '64 into the world with a storehouse of knowledge and undying vigor.

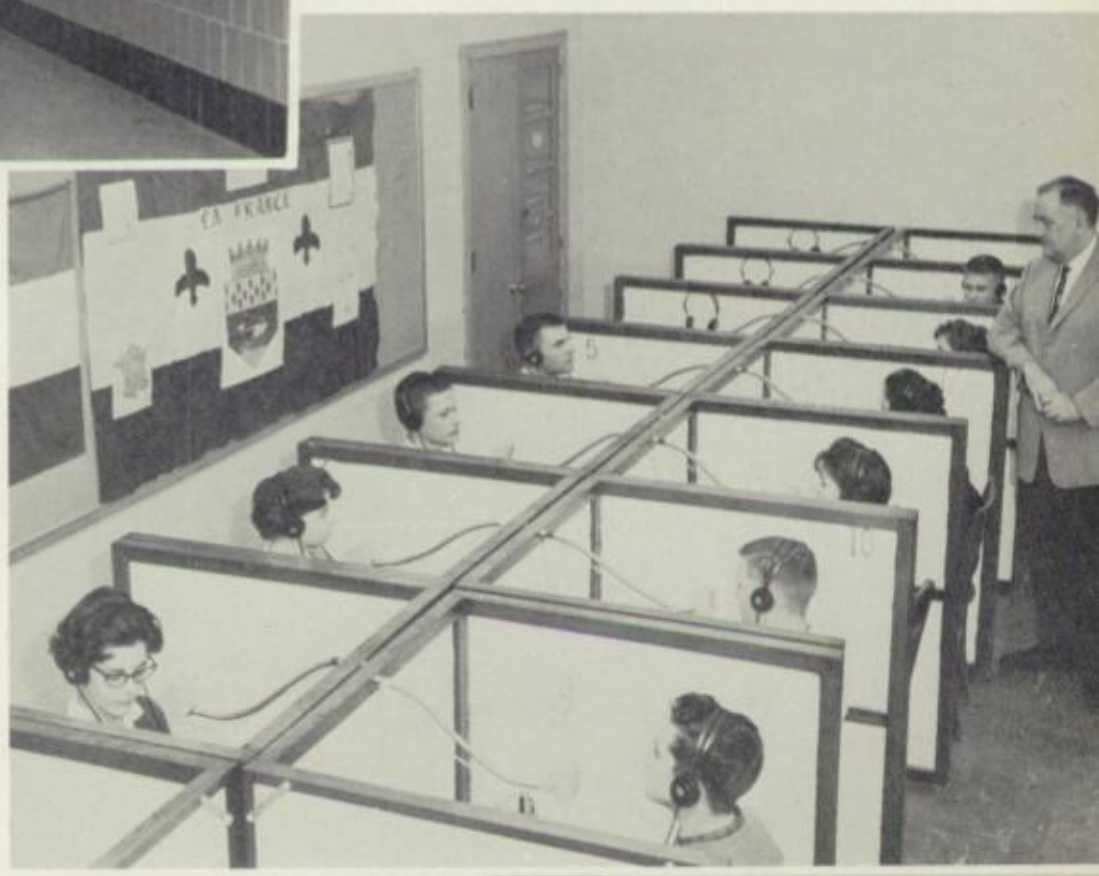
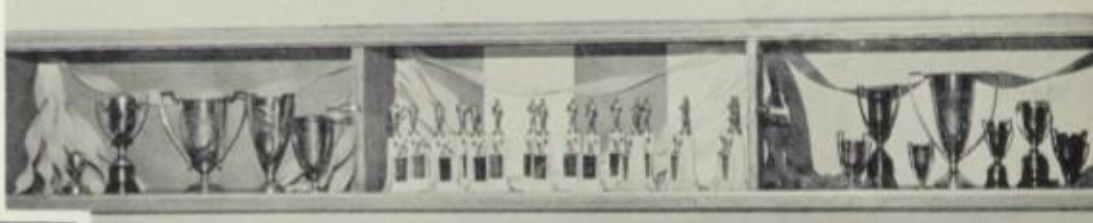
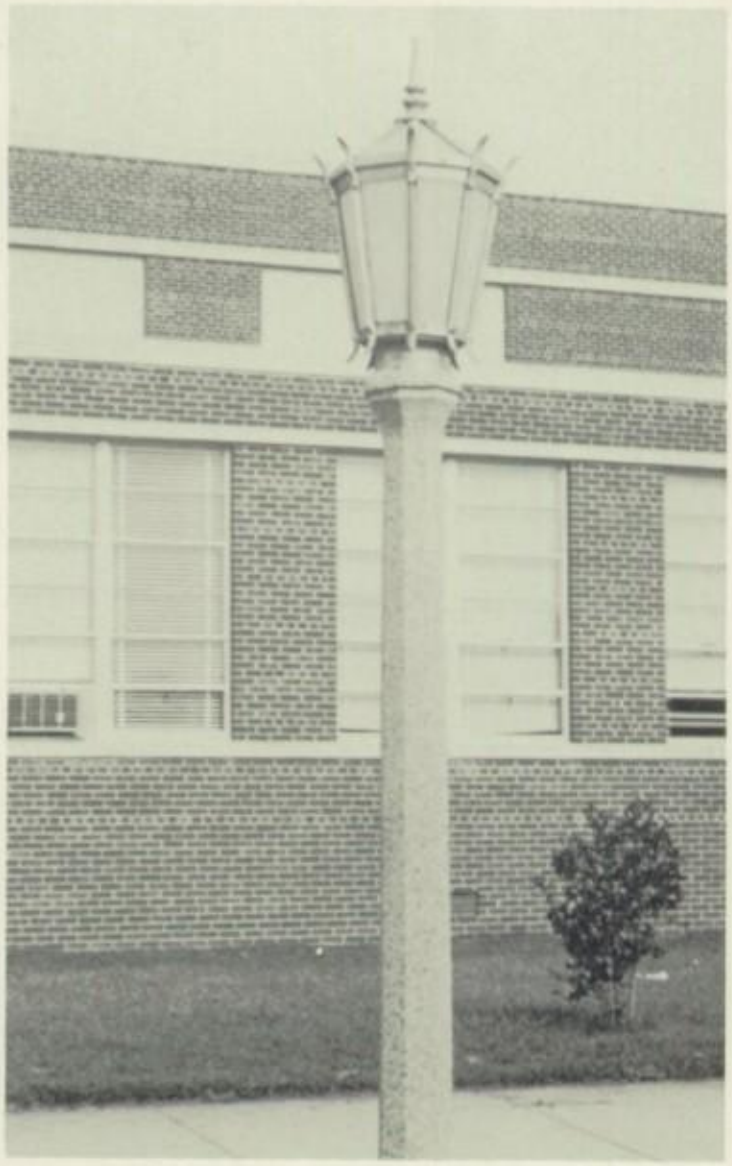
We Shall Remember

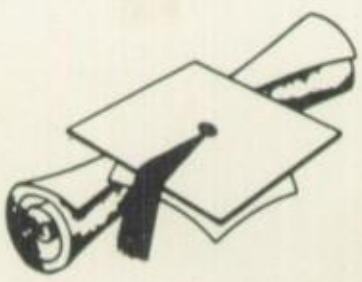
As we, the seniors, pass through the halls of Great Bridge High School for the last time, there are certain scenes we want to retain in our memories. Among these is our last glimpse of the foreign language laboratory. The lab reminds us of the many hours we spent in studying a foreign language with its people, customs, and culture.

As we leave the lab and walk toward the cafeteria, we pass the trophy case in the main hall. Glimpses of memorable moments flash through our minds as we stare at the trophies. The portrait of Mr. Eley above the case reminds us of the hard work, patience, and time the faculty devoted to us during our four years at Great Bridge High School. Leaving the hall, we proceed to the cafeteria. This room holds many memories of our social life at Great Bridge, for it is here that we have shared our experiences of the school day with our friends and neighbors.









We Shall Remember

Our last year began on September 13, 1963. That was the day of the first football game. Soon homecoming was upon us and we saw Cheryll Hall crowned. Things settled down and we began our work. We all too quickly rushed through basketball.

Finally we boarded the bus for the last time, for graduation was upon us. We took a long look at the school and the stadium. Our eyes came to rest upon the lamp post, a symbol of all that Great Bridge is. We now realized that this was our last day as a student of Great Bridge High School.

The entire student body of Great Bridge composes the Student Cooperative Association, but the Student Council is its representative body. The Council forms a link between the faculty and students and works always for cooperation and understanding between the groups. The purposes of the Council are to serve the school and community in every way possible, to develop a sense of self-government, and to help the students help themselves. This year the S.C.A. sponsored a foreign exchange student; was in charge of Homecoming and the Coke and doughnut parties honoring honor roll students, and also sponsored a United Children's Fund Drive.

The Future Nurses' Club strives to extend to the members the opportunity to observe the environment in which they may work in the future. It is the objective of the Future Nurses' Club to create, develop, and preserve an attitude of service and loyalty in all individuals. In carrying out this objective, each year several of the members render service to the patients of Norfolk General Hospital through the recruitment class offered there. Also, the club sponsors the Nancy Tenant Scholarship Fund.

Great Bridge

"And here they come. The Great Bridge High School Marching Band!" Fans look and listen as our band marches onto the football field to entertain with one of its many half-time shows. Under the direction of Mr. Martin, the band not only provides music at athletic functions, but also presents winter and spring concerts. This musical organization has brought honor and prestige to the school and has made our students proud to cheer the "Great Bridge High School Marching Band!"

Objectives for the Doria this year include various service projects for both school and community. Last year the main project was raising money to contribute a student parking lot; this year the main project is the formation of the Dorcas Tri-Hi-Y. Washing blackboards is a continuous service project to the teachers. During football season everyone made pep-pins for the team and participated in the annual Powder Puff Bowl. Placing among the top ten Tri-Hi-Y's in the district has been one of the club's many honors.

Varsity Football

"We're the swinging Wildcat Varsity" was the chant that could be heard from the Great Bridge athletic bus after each game of the 1963 season. The year was highlighted by a 60 yard pass from end Ken Barefoot to quarterback Fella Rhodes. Along with this winning combination were the other two of the four captains. As soon as Buddy Denny, center, would make a hole, halfback Joe Bussey would be through it and on for the touchdown. The Wildcats racked up a record of 7-9-2 in conference competition and an overall record of 8-0-2. Because Great Bridge was unable to schedule a tenth conference game, it was almost impossible for the Wildcats to win the district championship. Following the ties with Oscar Smith and Newport News, it WAS impossible. Despite injuries throughout the season, the Wildcats did win the city championship. The mighty Wildcats completed their season without a defeat, thus boosting their record to 20 undefeated games.

Miss Great Bridge—1963

The title "Miss Great Bridge" was attained by Brenda Worsham through a contest sponsored by the senior class. The contestants sold raffle tickets for a television set, with the proceeds going toward an organ for the school. The organ was installed in time to be used for the graduating class of 1963.

Finale

The CAUSEWAY Staff of 1964 expresses gratitude to:

MR. ELEY - for his unceasing support.

MR. McINTOSH - for extra time spent on our division pages.

MR. HASH - for his co-operation when we were in "tight" spots.

MRS. HANBURY - for proofreading some of the material.

THE FACULTY - for their understanding.

Only through the co-operation of these people and the student body is the publishing of this yearbook possible.

The Staff has strived to put into the 1964 yearbook memories of the present and hopes for the future.

As you looked through these pages, we hope you realized that what you are now doing will determine what you will become.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Here's a tip from the Safety Ambassadors;
Drive with care and you'll get there;
On your trip be a Safety Ambassador,
Stay alive . . . . be alert, be aware.

Learn the rules of the road and follow them;
In every way be fair;
And always be a Safety Ambassador;

Abbey,

I swear I never knew it was so hard to write standing up especially with a new hair-do! (I had to get that in!) Practice is finally over and so "Graduation" won't be far behind. Boy, we have really had some good times in our days, huh? Some I'd love to put in here but I don't dare. Remember the night at Nags Head and when we went to Elizabeth City, the good times at Virginia Beach. We really had some good times, huh? Remember the Sunday we were both so determined to go to the beach and it was only about 60? But we went to Sand Bridge anyway and wore our bathing suits. We really had some swinging times at the Community before they tore it down. Well, I guess I'd better stop before I put something down and get up back in trouble! I'll always remember these good times. Best of luck to a sweet girl and her best-all-around husband. I hope you all have lots of god-kids for me! May the best of luck be yours and Richards always!

Remember me,

Nancy
